CABLE TRAGEDY MALE BOAT

Emil Wahl, Aged 26, Loses His Life in the Saskatchewan Yesterday

DROPPED FROM CABLE BEFORE HELP ARRIVED

Accident Occurred Close to Place Where Six Were Drowned Thursday

ELEVEN VICTIMS WITHIN A MONTH

Within a month the Saskatchewan has claimed no less than eleven victims. The list is as follows:
June 3—George Hendrick, 12 years old.
June 12—Robert Gilchrist and Charles May.
June 23—Isabel C. Hooper and wife, Ed. J. Carey and Robert Patton.
June 27—W. C. Sexton, at Fort Saskatchewan.
June 29—Emil Wahl.

Emil Wahl, aged 26, a young Frenchman, was drowned in the Saskatchewan yesterday afternoon at 12:30, a few yards below the place where six victims of the same tragedy met their death on Thursday evening last. Along with him were his wife, a sister, a brother, a sister-in-law, and a friend Jean Berends, proprietor of the French laundry at 1095 Jasper West. The deceased, who was employed as a porter at the Windsor hotel, was out on the river in a flat-bottomed boat, said to belong to the Huff gravel company searching for the bodies of the motor launch party. Thought They Saw Boat. There are several gravel outfits employing men to drag the bodies up from the bed of the river, located between the low level and east end bridge. The scope are drawn up by steel cables and it was one of these that the Bulletin was informed was lost to Mr. Huff, but not the Huff gravel company, which claimed the death of Emil Wahl. The three men who had their attention attracted at the time the cable was lost, were told that a body floating in the water, but which turned out to be a submerged log. While their eyes were fixed on the object in the water the cable, which was carrying a motor launch, was suspended above the water, waiting for the boat, which was lost.

"Garde Attention," called out Joseph Wahl as he saw the cable lost, and at the moment the current rushed them upon it. Immediately thereafter Jean Berends ducked their heads while Joseph lifted the cable above his head. The cry came a moment later for Emil Wahl to duck and he endeavored to straddle the cable, but the boat was travelling at about eight miles an hour with the current. The boat was going for the time and when the time had not over the cable the craft had shot away down stream leaving him dangling from the cable with the lower part of his body immersed in the stream. Emil had been holding on to the cable when he was snatched out of it. Just when he was snatched out of it, the brother and friend called loudly for help, but the boat was lost above. The cries of the man on the cable added to those of his companions quickly attracted a crowd and a large part of the shock population living on the banks of the river rushed to the scene.

Second Boat Snaipped. Not more than 100 feet from where Wahl was hanging on the cable, the John Walter steamer was grasped to the bank of the river and was seen to be in danger. In order to get Wahl as soon as possible, the steamer was ordered to stop. The steamer, an experienced boatman, put off in the steamer's boat alone, and was ordered to stop. The steamer, an experienced boatman, put off in the steamer's boat alone, and was ordered to stop.

Strong Swimmer. Reaching that they would attempt to rescue Wahl from below the cable the three men in the boat were met with the intention of trying from the other side. It was while they were endeavoring to reach the cable that Wahl, in his effort to get to the shore, fell overboard and sank. A hundred feet lower down he disappeared but there was

PULLEY WAS TORN AWAY FROM SIDE

Rope Wound Around Steering Gear Show Efforts to Turn the Craft

Was the motor boat, tragically in which six young lives were snuffed out on Thursday last due to a weak point in the construction of its motor boat? This is the critical question which has been raised after a thorough examination of the ill-fated craft, and most boat builders, at whose yards the wrecked boat was lying. The theory advanced by the examination is that the motor boat was too weak to withstand the strain of the motor, and that the motor was too weak to withstand the strain of the motor.

NEARLY THREE MILLION ACRES IS SOWN TO CROP IN ALBERTA; INCREASE OF 430,482 ACRES

Department of Agriculture Issues Crop Report—Most Notable Increase in Crop Area is in Peace River—Fall Wheat and Flax Show Decreases.

The acreages sown to the various kinds of crop in Alberta are as follows:

Principal Crop Figures, 1912	1912	1913
Spring wheat	9,524,474 acres	9,608,296 acres
Winter wheat	128,813 "	7,223 "
Oats	971,969 "	1,267,159 "
Barley	257,855 "	358,899 "
Flax	112,776 "	63,921 "
Hay	2,492 "	15,839 "
Peas	774 "	7,215 "
Potatoes	18,270 "	2,852 "
Alfalfa	11,125 "	10,486 "
Timothy	5,135 "	61,271 "
Total	2,453,557 acres	2,884,039 acres
Estimated crop area for 1913		2,884,039 acres
Final Census crop area, 1912		2,453,557 "
Increase		430,482 acres

Edmonton is shown in the area under cultivation in the central portion of the province and the harvest of the province will probably exceed all previous records. The acreage will be very largely increased in the north, where it is expected that the harvest will mature quite so early as before and maintain previous records. Reports from the Peace River are extremely optimistic and it is expected that the harvest there will be twenty times in advance of previous years. Fall wheat shows a huge decrease throughout the province and flax also shows a decrease. The total crop area for 1913 is estimated at 2,884,039, an increase of 430,482 over 1912, an increase of 430,482 acres.

The crop report giving the conditions in the various parts of the province is as follows:

Western District.
After a mild winter the spring opening was very early than usual, and seeding operations commenced under very favorable conditions. Cool weather prevailed during May, which retarded the growth of crops somewhat, but the past month has been very favorable. It is now expected that crops will mature quite as early as heretofore and maintain all previous records. The acreage will be largely increased, although mixed farming has been less successful. The great influx of new settlers during the past two years have extended the crop area in all directions. The reports from the Peace River are extremely optimistic; seeding has been early and the weather has been ideal. It is expected that the harvest there will be twenty times in advance of previous years.

The heavy rainfall of the present month has been quite general, perhaps more general than in any previous year. At the present moment there is no dry belt in Alberta.

As predicted last year, the acreage of fall wheat shows a large decrease throughout the province, and will not be much better than the present year. The acreage in flax also shows a decrease, which is accounted for by the unfavorable prices last year.

Central District.
The season opened from a week to ten days later than usual and delayed seeding accordingly, and on account of the lack of warm weather during the month of May, very little growth occurred before the first of June. The conditions during the present month have forced a very rapid growth, and the outlook is very encouraging for a splendid crop. The acreage under cultivation in this district shows expansion, particularly in the southern portion where a large number of new settlers have commenced seeding operations.

An increased interest is also manifest in dairying and live stock, particularly in the settled portions of this district where mixed farming operations have long predominated.

The hay crop in this district will probably exceed most previous records as all indications assure a very large hay harvest and an abundance of feed.

Southern District.
The spring opening under very favorable crop conditions with sufficient moisture in the soil to ensure early germination, but warm weather was somewhat delayed and the upward growth of crops were slow until nearly the middle of May.

During the present month weather conditions have been ideal, plenty of moisture has fallen to assure sufficient growth for a good crop, and in fact the conditions were never more favorable for a successful crop than appear at the present time. On account of the ideal conditions which have prevailed during the past thirty days, the rapid growth has placed all crops in this district somewhat in advance of the date last year, and in many places the outlook assures both an earlier and a better harvest.

A brief analysis of our correspondence reports shows a slight decrease in the acreage under crop in this district, and a marked improvement in cultivation and preparation of the soil.

The larger area being sown for the next spring crop, the better preparation of the soil is a marked characteristic throughout the whole district, and notwithstanding the generally favorable conditions, increased attention in the growing crop is noticeable everywhere corresponding to the care exercised in preparing the soil. The result of this better preparation and a marked improvement in the adoption of better farming methods throughout the whole district.

Dairying.
An increased interest in dairying and the more intensive method of farming is manifest in the large immigration of and keen demand for dairy cows, and the number of new premises established during the past year.

Live Stock.
There is a decided movement for more and better live stock, more and more winter feed, and there is a greater demand for hogs and sheep. The precipitation in the month of June in this district has been about all that could have been desired. Four inches of rain fell during the past thirty days.

ALBERTA SHOULD HAVE ONLY ONE UNIVERSITY

Canon Matheson, Member of Council of Manitoba University, Says That It Would Be Mistake to Grant University Status to Calgary Institution.

Canon Matheson, of Winnipeg, a visitor to the city Saturday expressed great admiration for this city, which he said had the most beautiful site of any city in the West. The Canon paid a visit to the Provincial Parliament buildings and other places of interest in the city.

He remarked that he had not time to visit the University. The Canon is a member of the council of the Manitoba University. He expressed the opinion that the Legislature was wise in not granting a charter to any other college which sought degree-conferring powers and university standing. While at some future time it might be necessary to have more than one university in the province, the building up of a university to be a credit to the province could only be accomplished at the present time by combining the work to one institution and concentrating educationally upon that.

The same struggle had been experienced in Manitoba, a denominational college in Brandon trying hard to get degree-conferring powers. He said that educationists in Manitoba watched with interest the fight, which had taken place in the Alberta Legislature when Calgary college applied for status as a university, and he expressed the hope that if the fight were renewed that the Albertans would not achieve their desire.

Will Ship 200 Cattle.
St. Catherine's, Ont., June 28.—President Thompson, of the St. Catherine's Cold Storage and Forwarding Company, estimates that this year over 200 cattle of top grade from this point will be shipped to the Canadian West. Last year a record of 136 cars was reached.

Many Handsome Residences In Course Of Construction In The University District

No Cessation in House-Building on the South Side—Beautiful Homes Recently Completed and Building Make District in Sight of Halls of Learning Highly Attractive.

Notwithstanding the existing strike, building in Edmonton has not been materially affected. Whether this is a result of or in spite of present monetary conditions, or whether the builders are going about their business as if the financial pessimist say is difficult to ascertain. However, it is probably the latter, for, as long as the stream of immigration continues to flow into the country, and as long as the population continues to increase, there must always be a demand for houses. At the present time, however, conditions are particularly favorable for building. Both labor and materials are cheap, and they have been for some years, and, although it is almost impossible to obtain authentic figures, some contractors state that there is a difference of almost twenty per cent. in the cost of construction the year as compared with that of the year previous.

Consequently, those who are building now, derive any benefit there may be in the low prices and about it is unlikely that this is one of the reasons for the large number of residences being built this summer, it is more likely that to increase building operations all over the city when the facts are realized.

South Side Building.
The amount of building going on in the principal residential section of the south side is remarkable. Starting at Eighth street near the university buildings and covering an area of over five blocks square, a representative building yesterday counted over fifty residences in course of construction, and an almost equal number which recently had been completed. These ranged all the way from cottages to mansions, but whether large or small, each had a distinctive architectural style which.

In most cases, was singularly attractive. This district, part of which commands a magnificent view of the river valley and parliament buildings, is undoubtedly destined to become one of the best residential sections of the city, and most of the property owners, evidently realizing this, are building for the future.

Two Fine Households.
What are probably two of the finest residences in this part of the city, on Seventh street west, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, north. These two handsome structures, belonging to Mr. N. D. Forbes and Mr. J. L. Pearce, of the Canadian Investment Co., are the finest of the new buildings that command the attention of the passer-by. Built of proved brick, with concrete basements and finished in the most approved style, they would be noticeable in any city. Each of these houses is with twenty thousand dollars.

Another $20,000 Residence.
On Ninth avenue north, Chapin block, are building a $20,000 residence for H. A. Deley. It is of brick veneer with concrete basement and is a one and a half storey high. Payne and Cochrane have an $8,000 frame house with a concrete basement under construction on Eighth avenue north. The same company are building about fifty homes in different parts of the city.

Construction on Eighth avenue are a $20,000 frame building owned by Mr. Joseph Nations, a $4,000 two-storey brick residence with a concrete basement, owned by Mr. A. Hilbert, and a two and a half story solid brick residence built for Mr. Magan by the Powers McAlister Construction Co.

Residences on Seventh Avenue.
On Seventh avenue Thomas Clowe is building two frame houses with brick basements. Each of these is valued at $10,000. The Karpwood Investment Co. also has some houses under construction on the same street. Opposite Alberta College end, in fact, from end to end of Eighth street building is going on at a rapid rate. Some of these houses are owned by the Dugan Building and Investment Co., the cost of construction ranging from $4,000 to $5,000.

On Fifth avenue north, and east of Eighth street, is a row of eight residences all having complete. Most of these are valued at $1,000 or less.

It would be almost impossible to enumerate all the different buildings now in course of construction even in this small section of the city. However, some idea of the amount of building going on may be formed by the consideration of the fact that the houses described above are only a small part of those actually under construction within an area of five or six city blocks.
